

The course aims at introducing the theory of teaching, its elements, its different variables, and applied models in different disciplines