

The course aims at introducing students to the nature of quality Research. The course deals with how to plan for quality Research, how to select the sample, how to collect data, and how to ensure the validity of qualitative data, in addition to data analysis and preparation of qualitative Research reports. The course also focuses on analytical, autographic, and operational.